Roman foot soldiers ran the course in full armor and field packs, and it was thought that Hopscotch would improve their foot work. Roman children imitated the soldiers by drawing their own boards, and creating a scoring system, and "Hopscotch" spread through Europe.

THIS IS A CHALLENGE FOR ALL BOYS WHO DESIRE TO PARTICIPATE...

Using any stone, you are invited to decorate it (suggest paint or any other material that will adhere successfully despite being thrown in the game). Judging will be based on creativity and uniqueness, size of stone (appropriate for child's use) and durability during use.
